THE SUGAR OUTLOOK.

The San Francisco Bulletin reviews the sugar trade for 1886 and discusses its prospects for 1887. It refers to the expansion of the business of the American refinery, under the contracts with Hawaiian planters giving it about two-thirds of the sugar crop of the islands for three years, one of which has run, and says it is thought this year will give the American a still larger proportion of the Hawaiian crop, as the result of negotiations made a few weeks ago. Although the improvements at this refinery did not become available until last March, it is claimed that 65,000 tons sugar had been handled during the year. The daily capacity of the American is 250 tons, and that of the California still greater, so that either one can supply all the wants of the Pacific States and Territories, and the only way that both find employment is by an extension of trade to distant points, in which there is probably no money. Prices have changed oftener at San Francisco than for any previous year in a long time, the result of sharp competition between the two refineries. Prices January 1st, 1886, were—Crushed 7½ c., D. Gran. 7¼ c., Golden C. 5¾ c.; February 4th—Crushed 6½ c., D. Gran. 6¼ c., Golden C. 5¼ c.; Dec. 15th—Crushed 6 c., D. Gran. 5¾ c., Golden C. 4¼ c. The sharp change on February 4th was caused by dropping rebates and adopting a net cash basis. Under the rebate system jobbers sold at refining prices, but under net cash have to charge a small advance on refinery prices. "Formerly it was in the power of the California Refinery to make the rate for the American Refinery. This has not always been the case in the past year, especially in the last quarter, and is, apparently, likely to be still less in the future. Of late the American refinery has been getting more for its sugars than the California refinery. To disinterested parties, any further cutting of rates by the two local refineries appears to be useless."

This review estimates the excess of all foreign countries for the ensuing year at 508,000 tons. The European beet crop excess is put down at 453,000 tons, Brazil 50,000, and Demerara 10,000 tons. The countries showing a deficiency are Mauritius 50,000 tons, Porto Rico 5,000, and Hawaiian Islands 20,000 tons. As an offset to this foreign excess of 508,000 tons, a deficiency of 40,000 tons is reported in the Louisiana crop; besides which the effect of heavy rains delaying grinding in the West Indies calls for a reduction of 10,000 tons there, and some think the Hawaiian deficiency will not be over 10,000 tons. Despite the low prices of sugar the year closed in the United States with larger stocks than for any corresponding period in a number of years, being 104,593 tons, against 64,929 tons at the latter end of 1885.

The reviewer believes that more sugar has been consumed in the United States in the past year than for any previous year. "The total stock of raw sugar in all consuming countries at the latest uneven dates by mail and cable was 788,782 tons, against 861,147 tons at corresponding dates last year. We are inclined to believe that sugar prices have touched the lowest average for the present, and that the average for 1887 will be somewhat higher."

With regard to rumors on the Honolulu streets, since the arrival of the mail, that the sugar duties were to be removed by Congress, there is no immediate ground for apprehension in any news that has come to hand. There was some talk and nothing more of a strong Republican combination to strike off the sugar duties as part of a policy of reducing unnecessary taxation; but the Washington despatches afford ground for believing that there will be no disturbing of the tariff law this session.

THE SUGAR DUTY SAFE.

Since writing the article on "The Sugar Outlook" elsewhere, we have found definite news regarding the subject in Congress, in a San Francisco paper. It is to the effect that the House of Representatives, in which all bills relating to the revenue must originate, on the 18th of December refused, by a vote of 154 yeas to 148 nays, to consider the bill reducing the tax on sugar and wool, cotton yarns, threads and the coarser cotton cloths. The Democrats furnished 26 of the negative votes.

There is a resolution before the Senate calling for something like full reciprocity with all sugar-producing countries, with the condition that the sugar is to be carried in vessels under the flag of either contracting party. Mr. Millard, of New York, introduced in the House on the 20th a bill to repeal all duties on sugar and molasses imported in American vessels. There is probably little reason to fear that the opponents of tariff tinkering will allow this march to be stolen upon them.

The Morning Star.

A letter from Captain Turner of the Morning Star, dated Butaritari, November 1st, reports all well to that date. She had finished her western work as far as Ruk, according to instructions, and returned from there to Ponape, thence to Kusaie, and thence, with Rev. Mr. Walkup and Miss Hemingway on board, to Butaritari, on the tour of visitation among the Gilbert Islands. She was there just three months and seven days out from Honolulu. Dr. Pease remained at Kusaie on account of the ill health of Miss Crosby. The rest of the missionaries went on to Ruk to attend the general meeting of the mission. At Ponape on the return voyage, the "Star" picked up some thirty-five Gilbert islanders, with their eight canoes, who had drifted away from their own islands, and was returning them to their homes when the captain wrote.
